One day, by chance, you come across different parents.... You discover that their child has autism and that these parents feel lonely and exhausted! You also realize that they are graduates of a school of life that is different from your own. To help their child, they have become multidisciplinary experts: psychologists, educators, lawyers, managers and many other kinds... that inevitably and sorely take up a large part of their time and energy, often to the detriment of the rest of the family.

But, thanks to you, Emergo is there for them.

"Autism doesn't give any respite, but Emergo does!"

For the past 42 years, Emergo has been fulfilling its mission by welcoming autistic children, teenagers and adults for summer camp stays as well as for weekends during the school year, thereby providing more than 200 families with moments of freedom and a chance to recharge their batteries, so much needed to continue their journey along autism's path.

Please give generously! Every dollar raised makes it possible to offer more respite to more families!
